STEEL ERECTORS ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA

Jim Larson Announces His Retirement

Jim Larson, long-time SEAA member who currently serves on the Board of Directors, has announced his retirement from Phoenix Steel Erectors where he serves as 2nd Vice President. He asked that we share this message with SEAA members and E-News readers:

"It is with mixed feelings that I am announcing my plans for retirement. I have been involved in the construction industry for over 40 years in fabrication, steel joists, metal deck, door systems and hardware, reinforced concrete and my passion, steel erection.

"I have met many fine individuals in the construction business and hope to stay in contact. The last 10 years have been as a partner in Phoenix Steel Erectors, the most rewarding part of my career. I will truly miss the employees, vendors and customers.

"I plan to stay involved in my associations to a lesser degree and spend more time with family and hobbies. I will be available to discuss any projects I was involved with, to chat over a cheeseburger and a beer, or just to reminisce. I can be reached at jimlarson@aol.com. Thanks to everyone that made my career so fulfilled."
